|  Text narration                                        |  On macOS systems only, PEL provides a set of commands to narrate text taken from <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>a prompt or,</li><li>directly from the current buffer at point:<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>word</li><li>sentence</li><li>paragraph</li><li>region.</li></ul></li></ul> <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>  With PEL user option pel-use-hydra set to t, PEL activates the hydra external package and also creates a Hydra set of keys to help speed up narration. These keys are identified in the table below.</li><li>To start this Hydra, hit the &lt;f7&gt; S keys, then hit one of the following keys once or several times.</li><li>The keys that are in the PEL window hydra are all identified below with a &lt;f7&gt;S prefix, but when pel-use-hydra is set to t, after typing &lt;f7&gt; S once, you can hit several other window hydra keys without typing the prefix again.</li><li>While the PEL narrate hydra is active, you can also type other commands; the hydra will stay active. You can, for example, select a region and then type R to read it aloud.</li><li>To cancel the Hydra hit the &lt;f7&gt; key again.</li><li>A snapshot of the narrate hydra menu that shows up in the mini buffer area as soon as one of its keys is pressed is shown below.</li></ul>   If the pel-use-hydra is nil, then you must type the prefix before every narration command. Using the narration hydra is easier and more flexible. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>The narration commands available are shown below.</li><li>The narrate hydra includes some navigation commands to help move around while being in narration mode. These are only showing inside the narrate hydra help menu.</li><li>The name of the PEL window hydra commands are not listed below. They all have a name that begins with pel-Σsay/ and ends with the same name as the command function listed in the Function column. For example, pel-Σsay/pel-say is bound to &lt;f7&gt; S t.</li></ul>  When processing text, PEL filters out the comments strings for the buffer's major mode. It also performs a set of text translation to help the narration. These are currently not configurable. |                                                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |       |       |                 |                      |                     |  |                      |  |                   |  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |      |         |     |       |       |       |                      |                          |                            |  |                      |  |  |                              |  |  |                          |  |
